

Abstract

A razor assembly includes a razor head having at least one blade, and a shaving aid delivery system associated with the razor head. The shaving aid delivery system includes a framework with a supply of at least one shaving aid fluid, a microfluidic circuit for communicating the shaving aid fluid from the supply to a plurality of outlet ports along a surface of the framework, and a transport system for driving the shaving aid fluid from the supply through the microfluidic circuit.